

Jon

Mr. Ferrell

September 18, 2008

Language arts.

Exceptional Egypt

The Definition for mummification is people pulling your guts, your brain, and any other stuff that you have in your body. When they do this, you'll only be all bone. Like this guy. I know I would hate it. But I wouldn't feel

anything. Anyway

I'm Jon. I'm going to tell you about ancient

Egypt. Egypt came from like three thousand years ago. They had a lot of games. Do you like games? I know I do.

The Nile Rivers is in Egypt. Egypt had a very special river. This river flooded once a year. The Egyptians learned how when to expect the flood. The river supplied Egypt's water for their crops, water to drink, and food for them to eat. This river was so important that if that river wasn't there Egypt wouldn't be there because Egypt is in the middle of a desert.

The pharaoh is the king of Egypt. The Definition for monarchy is a government ruled by a king or queen. For Egypt the pharaoh is the king. In Egypt there were only two female pharaohs. The pharaoh was the connection with the god so the pharaoh had a huge schedule. The good thing about being the pharaoh is that you get to command everybody in Egypt. There are only seven pharaohs that I remember: Ramises, Ramises II, Ramises III, Hatsheut, Cleopatra, Tutankhamen, and Menes. But they're all mummies now.

Egypt made Mummies. Only important people or people that had money to be mummified like the pharaohs could be mummified because Egypt belied in an after life. This was so important to the Egyptians because if the heart couldn't find the body the soul would become a demon, evil spirit, or a fiend, any thing that's bad the soul of the pharaoh would change into. I personally don't like demons do you?

Well how did you like your expedition through Egypt? What was your preferred thing about Egypt? My choice was the Pharaoh. How was the Nile River? Well that's all I'm going to tell you. Now you can run home. But first you half to go to Egypt and study more about Egypt. You can also learn more from reading books in the library. It's also cheaper than going to Egypt. I suggest doing that then going to Egypt. Well good luck. I'm going to mummify my brother. If you want me to tell you more then N.H.F.T.M. (not here for the moment.)

